Choice Poetry.

MEMORY.

When backward through departed years On memory's wings we soar, How oft we find but faintest traces Along the wasted way.

The heart will faintly seek the light That floated there before, And slowly turn to mourn the light Of all its level of joy.

We watch for footsteps that have come To breathe the twilight vow—We listen—for the other tone Of voices—ah! not now!

We gaze on old familiar things,
And marvel that they bear No likeness to our spirit's wings Like what of old was there?

Even thus, when through departed years On memory's wings we stray, We find, ah! but faintest traces Along the wasted way.

THE WORKINGMAN.

The noblest men I know on earth,
Are men whose hands are busy with toil;
Who, backed by no untried sword, Have done the noblest and the best of all.

They show the world and fill the soil,
And win thereby a power and fame That follows kind or warrior's name.

The workingmen, whatever their task, To carve the stone or bore the lead—They wear upon their honest brows The royal stamp and seal of God.

And brighter are the drops of sweat That diamonds in a crown set.

God bless the noble workingmen, Who shape the world and fill the soil, Who dig the mines and build the ships And drive the commerce of the world!

God bless them, for their worthy hands Have wrought the glory of all lands.

Whining.

There is a class of persons in this world By no means small, whose prominent peculiarity is whining. They whine because they have no health to enjoy their riches; they whine because it is too shiny; they whine because it is too rainy; they whine because they have 'no luck' and others' prosperity exceeds theirs; they whine because some friends have died and they are still living; they whine because they have aches and pains, and have aches and pains because they whine, and they whine no one can tell why. Now, I would like to say a word to these whining persons.

First stop whining! It is of no use—this everlasting complaining, fretting, and sighing, fault finding and whining. Why, you are the most deluded set of creatures that ever lived. Do you not know that it is a well-settled principle of physiology and common sense, that those habits are more exhaustive of nervous vitality than almost any violation of physiological law? And do you not know, too, that life is pretty much as you take it and make it. You can make it bright, sunny, or you can make it dark, shadowy. This life is meant only to be disciplinary—to fit us for a higher and purer state of being. Then stop your whining and fretting, and go on your way rejoicing.

You are miserable, nervous dyspeptics, in wrong relations to yourselves and all God's universe, and that's all ails you.— Then stop short, take up the song of life, and leave off forever that whine of death!

Second. Sing the song of life cheerily.
Hark! Do you hear yonder bird singing joyously its merry carols, as it hops from bough to bough in its native forest home?
Imitate it! Take up your song of life, imite it jealously and bravely. Sing on though you feel it not.

To Acquire a Beautiful Form.
Take abundant exercise in the open air—free, attractive, joyous exercise, such as young girls—when not restrained by false and artificial proprieties—are wont to take.
If you are in the country, or can get there, ramble over the hills and through the woodland; bathe in the sea; seek rare flowers and plants; hunt birds' nests and chase butterflies. Be a romp, even though you may be no longer a little girl. If you are a wife and a mother, so much the better.
Romp with your children. Attend also to your bodily positions in standing, sitting, lying and walking, and employ such general or special gymnastics as your case may require. Live, while in doors, in well ventilated rooms; take sufficient wholesome and nourishing food, at regular hours; keep the mind active and cheerful—in short, obey all the laws of health.

A beautiful thought is suggested in the Koran: "Angels in the grave, will not question thee as to the amount of wealth thou hast left behind thee; but what good deeds thou hast done, while in the world, to entitle thee to a seat among the blest?"

The more a man accomplishes the more he may. An active foot never grows rusty. You always find those men the most forward to do good, or to improve the times and manners, always busy.

Scandal, like the Nile, is fed by innumerable streams; but it is extremely difficult to trace it to its source.

Nothing remains so long in the memory as a wrong deed. They are nettles which cannot be plucked out of sight, but will spring up at every disturbance with fresh vigors.

A philosopher was asked from whom he received his first lesson in wisdom. He replied, "From the blind, who never take a step until they have first felt the ground in front of them."

The day on which idle men work and fools reform is—to-morrow.

Extemporaneous Preaching.

Once two ministers of the Gospel were conversing on extemporaneous preaching.
"Well," said the old divine, (waxing warm) "you are ruining yourself by writing your sermons and then reading them off. Your congregation cannot become interested in your preaching, and if you were called upon to preach unexpectedly, unless you could get hold of an old sermon, you would be completely confused."

The young divine used all his eloquence, but in vain, to convince the old gentleman that the written sermons expressed his own thoughts and feelings, and if called upon could preach extemporaneously.

"As we are of the same faith," said the young minister, "suppose you try me next Sabbath morning. On ascending the pulpit you can hand me a text from any part of the Bible, and I will convince you that I can preach without having looked at the text before I stood up. Likewise, I must be allowed the same privilege with you, and see who makes the best of it."

The idea seemed to delight the old gentleman, and it was immediately agreed upon.

The following Sabbath, on mounting the pulpit, his senior brother handed him a slip of paper on which was written—
"and the ass opened his mouth and spoke,"
"and the ass opened his mouth and spoke," from which he preached a glorious sermon, claiming the attention of his delighted hearers and burning his old friend with his eloquence.

In the afternoon, the young brother, who was sitting below the pulpit, handed his slip up. After rising, and opening the Bible, the old man looked anxiously around the congregation, and nervously read aloud—"Am I not thine ass?" Pausing a few moments, he ran his fingers through his hair, straightened his collar, blew his nose like the last trump, and read aloud—"Am I not thine ass?" Another pause, in which a deadly silence reigned—After reading a third time—"Am I not thine ass?" he looked over the pulpit at his friend, and in a doleful voice said—"I think I am, brother."

Greely Meets a Slave Dealer.—We find the following going the rounds of the Western journals:

Horace Greeley, at Lavenworth, met a gentleman who expressed great pleasure at seeing so distinguished a philanthropist, and in wishing him success. "Indeed," replied Mr. Greeley, "I am happy to hear such sentiments, and to see such men as yourself, where I did not expect the least sympathy, in this land where the iniquity of the nation is so firmly rooted. God be praised; the work goes bravely on." "With your aid," returned Mr. W., "slavery will soon cease to exist in Missouri. The number of slaves is now fast decreasing. I am myself doing something towards removing them." Only last week I took away thirteen."

My good friend, how? where to?" "To New Orleans," "Great God!" exclaimed Horace, "what a dealer in human souls!"
"Yes, sir, if that is what you call it. I buy and sell negroes. I am indebted to you for the profits of my business. Slaveholders here sell me their slaves for half their value in the South, to keep your disciples from stealing them."

A Handy Article.—Adam Sinner, a number of years ago, came to Huntingdon Furnace, and seeing there, for the first time, a pair of snuffers, asked:

"What's these for?"
"To snuff the candle."

The candle just then needed attention, and Adam, with his thumb and finger, pinched off the snuff, and poked it into the snuffers, saying:

"Well, now, them is handy."

Here is a bit of caution well worth being passed into one's hat, where it may be daily seen:

"If you keep your lips
Would keep from slips, Five things observe with care—
Of whom you speak,
To whom you speak,
And how, and when, and where."

In one of the schools of our town last week, a mischievous archer took an opportunity to deposit soft wax upon the benches of all the boys and the chairs of the teachers. It wasn't long before the schoolroom was as full of "wax-cuds" as a shoemaker's shop.

A French Regiment, at the battle of Spices, had orders to give no quarters.
A German officer being taken, begged for his life. "Sir," replied the polite Frenchman, "you may ask me any other favor, but as for your life it is impossible for me to grant it."

A Cool Explanation.—A pitman, to cool his scolding wife's tongue, threw a pan of water over her. Her outcry brought in one of the gossips, who, seeing the scold all dripping, asked:

"How did he do it?"
The pitman in a moment gave her the contents of another pan, "That's how I did it, since you must know."

"Well, Patrick," asked the doctor,
"how do you feel to-day?"
"Och, doctor dear, I enjoy very poor health invariably. This rumination is very distressing indeed; when I get to sleep I lay awake all night, and my toes is awfully large as a goose her's egg, so when I stand up I fall down immediately."

The day on which idle men work
and fools reform is—to-morrow.

A Showman "Sold."

Showmen as a general rule, are tolerably "sharp," and it is no easy matter to overreach them, but when they are fooled, it is a matter of great amusement to those present. I was a witness to one of the best "sells" of the kind that I have ever heard of. Last summer there was no exhibition in a tent, on one of our public lots—a sort of menagerie on a small scale. Before the entrance to the tent, the proprietor was boasting of the innumerable wonders to be seen for a shilling, to a considerable crowd.
While in the midst of a speech, overflowing with large words, he was somewhat summarily interrupted by the following exclamation from a man near him, who had a boy with him:

"I'll bet you a 'five' that you cannot let me see that lion."

"Done," said the showman, eagerly.—
"Put up your money."

The man placed a five dollar bill in the hand of a by-stander, and the showman, counting out the change, did the same.

"Now walk this way," said the showman,
"and I'll convince you."

"The man and his little boy followed him into the tent, the whole crowd following."

"There!" said the showman triumphantly. "Look in that corner at that beautiful Nimrodian lion."

"Where?" asked the man, looking in every direction but the right one.

"Why, there!" was the astonished reply.

"I don't see any," responded the other.
"What's the matter with you?" asked the showman, who began to smell a very large mice.

"I'm blind!" was the grinning reply.
The showman was very industriously employed in turning out the crowd for the next few minutes, while the blind man pocketed the stakes and went his way.

HOLDING A BABY IN THE CARS.—A well known citizen and prominent city official, residing in Detroit, was passing over the Chicago, Alton, and St. Louis railroad during the present week, and while seated in the car he noticed a very neatly-dressed and good looking female with a very noisy baby, which she was endeavoring to quiet and put to sleep. Her efforts were vain, however, and the official, being a great lover of children, and the father of several himself, tendered his services to the mother, saying that he thought, with his persuasive powers, the child would soon be sleeping soundly. The mother relinquished the child to the officer, who, with kind and soothing words, kisses, and embraces, was successful.

At the next station the mother got off, saying she would get some milk for the baby, leaving the dear little creature in charge of its kind protector. The train started, but the mother did not; she remained behind. Our friend was anxious, and knew not what to do. The conductor inquired, "Where is your wife?" The official responded, "She is not my wife; I never saw her till we met on the train!" The conductor looked dubious, saying, "You can't catch an old bird with chaff." At this the passengers began to gather round, anxious to know why the woman had deserted her child and husband; explanations were made, but wouldn't "go down," and all were satisfied, except the victim, that the poor woman had been abused by her spouse, and had taken leave of him for that reason.

When the train arrived at the next station a despatch was sent to the station they had left for the woman to be sent forward, and with good talking and a considerable bonus an elderly lady was prevailed upon to take charge of the child. The official declares that his fondness for children has fled, and that he will never oblige the best friend he has in the world by holding his children for him while absent from home.—Detroit Advertiser.

"The Strongest Man in the World" Prostrated.—Dr. George B. Winslip, said to be a man of extraordinary physical powers, made two attempts in Boston the other evening to lecture for the first time before an audience, but on each occasion became so tremulous and faint as to be compelled to take his seat, after uttering a few words.

"This strong man, who, before the public gaze, became as weak almost as an infant, is thus described by the Atlas:

He is twenty-five years of age, five feet seven inches in height, and weighs one hundred and forty-three pounds. He graduated at Cambridge five years ago. He can raise a barrel of flour from the floor on to his shoulders; can raise himself with either little finger till his chin is half a foot above it; can raise two hundred pounds with either little finger; can put up a dumb-bell of 141 pounds; exercises daily with two dumb-bells weighing one hundred pounds each, which he can raise alternately above his head; can lift with the hands 926 pounds dead weight, without the aid of straps or belts of any kind. Tapham, the strongest man in England, could raise only 800 pounds in the same way, and the celebrated Belgian giant could lift only 800.

Somebody accounts for western hospitality by saying that where houses are so far apart as in that country, a stranger is as welcome as a newspaper, and is commonly used as one. The moment he arrives, he is "put in press," and what is more, kept there till all the news that has happened for the last six months is thoroughly squeezed out of him, and bottled up for future use. A man that tells a good murder story could travel from one end of Indiana to the other without expense.

Demeanor in the House of God.

Perhaps nothing is a surer sign of vulgarity of breeding than irreverent behavior during attendance upon public worship.— Not seldom have our hearts been pained to see manifested in the house of God a total want of that reverent demeanor and attention to the service which is befitting the audience chamber of Deity. But when we see this tendency exhibited by young ladies, it arouses a shalowness of mind, and a perverseness of heart that are appalling. We have seen young ladies elegantly dressed and bearing all the external marks of respectable parentage and decent associations, who seemed to consider the service of the Almighty as requiring no more attention or reverence than a concert of music. A well-bred gentleman or lady will always conduct with propriety in a place of public worship, whatever may be his or her individual opinions, out of self-respect alone.

A new mode of punishment for the refractory has been devised at the Sing Sing State Prison, consisting of a box, about three feet square, and as high as the tallest man. As it stands up, a door opens so as to let the convict step in, and there is a hole in the top through which his head projects. As he is in, a sliding collar of wood fits around the neck and keeps him in place. A false bottom of this box is raised or lowered by means of a pulley, so that it may be adapted to the altitude of the man to be punished. This false bottom is pulled up, so that the convict's legs are bent as if about to kneel. He cannot straighten up—he cannot kneel down without throwing his entire weight upon his neck—he must bear his weight by the muscles alone, for his knees cannot touch anything to sus-tain them in position. One would suppose that nobody could stand this torture, and yet we are told that a stalwart negro, noted for his insubordination, lately endured it for 24 hours without flinching.

Progressive Friends.—The great annual meeting of this society took place on Sunday last, at Longwood, Pa., and it is estimated that from five thousand to eight thousand persons were present. The Delaware Gazette says:

"Such a collection of horses and carriages as lined the roads from the meeting was never seen before. For one mile either way, on both sides of the road, might be seen horses and wagons hitched, while the cross-roads were in the same condition. No camp meeting that we ever saw numbered anything like so many."

The usual number of persons as leaders of this society presented themselves, among whom we saw the same old familiar faces of Joseph A. Cudde, Oliver Johnson, Higgins and others. There was one from Ohio who pitched into the tobacco chewers, one from Hungary, another from the Rocky mountains."

The Albany Morning Times publishes a singular story about a very worthy old gentleman, whose offences, it appears, consist in becoming a little romantic in his old age. The fact is, the old gentleman, a widower worth $500,000, made love to his servant girl. Young lady reciprocated.— Old gent proposed marriage. Young lady accepted proposals, and the marriage arrangements reached the ears of the old gentleman's family. Family, in arms, threaten a revolution. Family insist that the old gent is insane, and should be sent to the asylum. Old gent becomes alarmed, and to avoid the contingency of a straight jacket, informs the young lady "that it can't be done." Young lady hears the announcement and calls upon a lawyer—lawyer brushes back his forehead and exclaims, "Heartless monster!" and commences a suit against the old gentleman for breach of promise of marriage, laying damages at $25,000. Old gentleman discovering that young lady has the best of him, summons a lawyer, and effects a compromise, by giving the young lady a check on the Farmer's and Merchant's Bank for $2,500. Young lady, perfectly recovered, calls it a good job, thanks old gentleman, and goes on her way rejoicing.

Remarkable Coincidence.—Deacon Tukesbury, of Salisbury, Massachusetts, had a sister who some few years ago fell dead near her own door. A brother had met a similar fate. The Deacon has long dreaded it for himself, and on last Sunday as he was returning from church he fell dead just as he got within sight of his house. He was in the 68th year of his age.

A white man married a colored girl, out at Chicago, knowing that she was be-trous to a large property. Her friends were dissatisfied with the match, and one day last week he died suddenly from the effects of a dose of poison, by whom administered, it is not known, but it is remarked that his colored "brothering" are not going into mourning on his account.

New Use for Printer's Ink.—Philip Monulty, a traveling agent for a patent bedstead, was detected last week in Georgia, in an attempt to decoy slaves into a free State.
His looks were sheered, a coat of printer's ink applied to his person, and a rail having been procured he was placed upon it and taken to the depot, where he was allowed to depart.

A City in the Gold Mines.—A Pike's Peak writer says that Denver City is a log city, containing about one hundred cabins.
Corner lots range in price from $50 to $500.
Inhabitants are Indians, Mexicans and white people—about equally divided—all hard cases; drinking and fighting all the while; some one killed nearly every week —now and then one burg.

A Good Story.

The following has the ring of the true metal in it, and is entirely too good to be lost. It is perpetrated by a correspondent of the Boston Post. "Scrolling leisurely about Uncle Sam's big ship yard in Washington, the other day, we observed a regular hard weather sailor from a man of war, who in turn, was watching two men dragging a seven feet cross-cut saw through a huge live oak log. The saw was dull, the log was terribly hard, and there they went saw, saw, pull, push, pull, pull.— Jack studied the matter over awhile, until he came to the conclusion that they were pulling, to see who would get the saw, and as one was a monstrous big chap, while the other was a little fellow, Jack decided to see fair play, so taking the big one a clip under the ear that capsize him end over end, he jerked the saw out of the log, and giving it to the small one, sung out—"Now run, you beggar!"

The following is too good to be lost—of a schoolmaster and pupil:

"Joseph, where is Africa?"
"On the map, sir."

"I mean, Joseph, in what Continent—Eastern or Western Continent?"

"Well the land of Africa is on the Ras-tern Continent; but the people, sir, are all of 'em down South."

"What are the products?"
"Of Africa, sir, or down South?"
"Africa, you blockhead."

"Well, sir, it hasn't got any; it never had any."

"How do the people live?"
"By drawing."

"Drawing what—water?"
"No, sir, by drawing their breath."

"Sit down, Joseph."

"Thomas, what is the equator?"
"Why, sir, it is the horizontal pole running perpendicularly through the imaginations of astronomers and old geographers."

"Go to your seat, Thomas."

"William, what do you mean by an eclipse?"

"An old race horse, sir."

"Silence. Next. Jack, what is an eclipse?"

"An eclipse is a thing as appears when the moon gets off on a bust and runs agin the sun, consequently the sun blackens the moon's face."

"Class is dismissed."

A Galway gentleman once entered a coffee-house in London, and called for tea.
His brogue attracted the attention of a seated citizen in an opposite box, who relying upon his superior accent, resolved to have a jest at the stranger. The civilian called for tea, too. The Irishman called for muffins—so did the civilian.— Toast, milk, sugar, &c., were severally called for by the Irishman, and severally obeyed by the top, who enjoyed in his corner the supposed embarrassment of the Galway man. At last, with the greatest composure, and if possible, a richer brogue, the Irishman desired the waiter to bring up pistols for two! The jester's echo was silenced.

A San Francisco letter says: "It does one good to see how rapidly Umana-n are becoming civilized under the tution of Young America benevolents. I saw four of them coming home from a dash out on the road yesterday, behind a pair of fast horses, all very drunk, smoking cigars, and giving other evidence of progress."

The one that was driving made a ludicrous fat of it—he persisted in standing up in the carriage and putting one foot on the dasher. A Chinaman behind was hauling tong on the pugilist to steady him, and they were in a high state of enjoyment, going at a 240 gait.—

THE ADAMS SENTINEL.

GETTYSBURG:
MONDAY, JUNE 13, 1859.

THE PEOPLE'S STATE TICKET.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,
Thomas E. Cochran, of York.
FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL,
Wm. H. Keim, of Berks.

By the proceedings of the People's State Convention, which assembled at Harrisburg on Wednesday last, it will be seen that THOMAS E. COCHRAN, Esq., of York, has been nominated for Auditor General, and W. H. KEIM, of Reading, for Surveyor General. The Convention was full, and was one of the most respectable, intelligent Conventions that ever assembled in Pennsylvania. The kindest feeling prevailed, and every assurance was interchanged of the triumphant election of our candidates.

To say that we are personally gratified at the nomination of Mr. COCHRAN, but it is a pleasure to express our feelings; we hail it with heart-felt pleasure. We have known him for many years, and have ever found him the embodiment of honor and integrity. From his unimpaired reputation for honesty, and stern, unbending principle, united to a talent which fits him for any situation, he is just the man to hold the reins of the Commonwealth, and make the office pure of corruption and bribery, as it ought to be. It is an important office; and the Convention have just placed there the man to do its duties well. He will be triumphantly elected, beyond a doubt. It is a pleasure, as well as a duty, to vote for such a candidate.

Of the candidate for Surveyor General, Mr. KEIM, we can say nothing from personal knowledge, as we can of Mr. COCHRAN; but his high character and unbounded popularity at home, give indubitable evidence that the choice has been one which the people will triumphantly approve.

We have placed the names of our candidates at our mast-head with pleasure and satisfaction, and shall battle for them with all our energy. Adams will do her duty for her favorite.

The new Engine and Passenger Car for our Railroad arrived on Wednesday last. The latter was described last week. It was built in York, and is a very comfortable and substantial affair—answering the purpose admirably. The Engine is a very fine one, and was built by Baldwin & Co., Philadelphia. It works handsomely and powerfully, and there appears no danger of "sticking" on the road. It has not commenced running regularly, on account of the turn-out not being completed at Hanover; but it will go down this morning. It has been used in several excursions, and moves along very satisfactorily.

Fatal Accident.
On Monday evening last, Mr. WM. KING, son of our esteemed friend, JACOB KING, Esq., of Hunterstown, met with a sudden and heart-rending death, at his father's warehouse, four miles east of Gettysburg. He was uncoupling a Lime-car from the train, when he fell between the departing train and the Lime-car, and the latter passed over him, killing him instantaneously. His right arm was broken, one of his thighs dislocated, and his body horribly crushed. Life had departed before he could be raised. He was a young man, of about 30 years of age, of fine business capacity, and a generous, whole-hearted young man. He has left a large circle of relatives and warm friends to lament this afflictive dispensation of Providence.

On Thursday last, a son of Mr. ISAIAH Z. LITTLE was run over by one of our citizens who was driving furiously through the street. Fortunately he escaped without any serious injury. It is indeed high time that the authorities should take this matter in hand, and render it highly penal to make a trotting-course of a crowded street. This is the second occurrence of the kind within a week or two; and many other narrow escapes have been made.

Barn Destroyed.
The large Bank Barn of Mr. ISAAC RIFE, near Brushtown, Conowing township, was struck by lightning, on Friday evening week, and entirely consumed, with one horse, several sheep, farming implements, &c. The other horses were gotten out with great difficulty before the fire reached their stalls. The loss is heavy; whether insured to any extent, we are not informed.

A child, two years old, of Mr. JOHN BOND, of New Oxford, this county, lost its life, week before last, by drinking a quantity of lye.

Mr. SAMUEL HERBST has sold his Farm, in Cumberland township, to Mr. ADAM BUTT—158 acres, for $5,000, cash, and possession on the first of April next. Mr. Herbst bought the farm from Mr. Jno. Butt, two years since, for $4,000.

Zug's Paper-mill, near Popertown, Cumberland county, was totally destroyed by fire on the morning of the 3d inst. The loss is very heavy, and there was only an insurance of $4,000.

Curiosity.—Samuel Brant, of New Britain township, Bucks county, has a mare that recently had a colt whose head resembled the human face, and had but one eye right in the centre of the head. It died shortly after its birth. The owner has preserved its hide.

Distressing Occurrence.—On the 2d inst., at Pottsville, Pa., a vivid flash of lightning and deafening peal of thunder so alarmed the wife of Mr. Geo. W. Potts, coal operator, while standing at her door, that it induced a fatal attack of heart disease. She fell back and died in a few moments. She was a niece of Hon. Gen. M. Dallas, and a daughter of the late Trevanion B. Dallas, Esq. of Pittsburgh.

Infant Born with the Head of a Cat.—Last week, in Lawrence, Mass., a child was born, perfect in all its proportions, and weighing ten pounds, but with a remarkable malformation, the head being formed in every particular like the head of a cat. It lived but a moment after birth. The attending physician assures the Republican of that place of the truth of this statement.

Property Destroyed by Fire.—The property destroyed by fire during the month of May in the U. States, amounted in the aggregate to over one million six hundred thousand dollars.

The Troy Whig says there is a girl residing with her parents in the lower part of that city who is twelve years and four months of age, and is the mother of a child about a month old. Its father is only in his sixteenth year.

The New York Courier and Enquirer estimates that the coming crop of wheat will not be less than two hundred million bushels, or fifty millions more than the yield of last year, while an unusually large breadth of land has been sown in corn, which at present is very forward, with every prospect of a good crop.

The Slave Trade.—"Independent," the Washington correspondent of the North American, writes:—"Recent accounts from our African squadron represent the slave traffic as unusually active, and from other sources of intelligence at home there is too much reason to believe that the successful venture of the Wanderer, and the immunity from punishment which those concerned in that nefarious enterprise have enjoyed, have operated as incentives to new undertakings. Supplies of native Africans are openly advertised in Texas, and the recent developments in Georgia, South Carolina and Mississippi go far to justify the belief that there is a considerable influence in those States prepared to sustain any violation of the law branding the slave trade as piracy, and to shelter whoever may engage in this odious commerce."

Travel to Europe.—The existence of war in Europe will restrict the travel thither of our naturalized citizens of French or German origin. Under the laws of the Continental States, all adult males are liable to be drawn for military service, for a specified term; and those who have emigrated to this country, before performing this service, are liable, if found in their native State, to be drafted into the army, notwithstanding that they may have become naturalized citizens of the United States.

Danger of Visiting Prussia.—The Indianapolis (Ind.) Journal says that Mr. Frederick Buich, of that city, a well known and prosperous produce dealer, who went to Europe some six or eight weeks since on a visit to his old home and friends, immediately on his arrival in Prussia was claimed as a conscript, forced into the army, and is now held there to serve out his three years as a Prussian soldier.

Army in Utah.—Mr. Greeley, in a letter from Leavenworth, says: "I saw a great male train start out from the fort to-day, and another will start soon, filled with 160 soldiers' wives and babies, on their way to join their husbands in Utah, from whom they have been separated nearly two years. I argue from this fact that Uncle Sam expects to have use for his army in Utah for some time yet."

Three Thousand Sheep Destroyed by a Locomotive.—A destructive accident occurred in New Jersey on Tuesday last. As the down train of the New York and Erie line was crossing Well Creek, a drower with 3,000 sheep was crossing at the same time. The sheep hearing the train coming, attempted to run across the track, when it ran over them and was thrown from the track into the creek. The drower saved his life by leaping on a boat that was passing. There were no passengers on the train. The engineer has a broken arm, but was doing well at last accounts. The lot of sheep were valued at $5,000.

The drower saved his life by leaping on a boat that was passing. There were no passengers on the train. The engineer has a broken arm, but was doing well at last accounts. The lot of sheep were valued at $5,000.

Infant Born with the Head of a Cat.—Last week, in Lawrence, Mass., a child was born, perfect in all its proportions, and weighing ten pounds, but with a remarkable malformation, the head being formed in every particular like the head of a cat. It lived but a moment after birth. The attending physician assures the Republican of that place of the truth of this statement.

Property Destroyed by Fire.—The property destroyed by fire during the month of May in the U. States, amounted in the aggregate to over one million six hundred thousand dollars.

The Troy Whig says there is a girl residing with her parents in the lower part of that city who is twelve years and four months of age, and is the mother of a child about a month old. Its father is only in his sixteenth year.

The New York Courier and Enquirer estimates that the coming crop of wheat will not be less than two hundred million bushels, or fifty millions more than the yield of last year, while an unusually large breadth of land has been sown in corn, which at present is very forward, with every prospect of a good crop.

The Slave Trade.—"Independent," the Washington correspondent of the North American, writes:—"Recent accounts from our African squadron represent the slave traffic as unusually active, and from other sources of intelligence at home there is too much reason to believe that the successful venture of the Wanderer, and the immunity from punishment which those concerned in that nefarious enterprise have enjoyed, have operated as incentives to new undertakings. Supplies of native Africans are openly advertised in Texas, and the recent developments in Georgia, South Carolina and Mississippi go far to justify the belief that there is a considerable influence in those States prepared to sustain any violation of the law branding the slave trade as piracy, and to shelter whoever may engage in this odious commerce."

Travel to Europe.—The existence of war in Europe will restrict the travel thither of our naturalized citizens of French or German origin. Under the laws of the Continental States, all adult males are liable to be drawn for military service, for a specified term; and those who have emigrated to this country, before performing this service, are liable, if found in their native State, to be drafted into the army, notwithstanding that they may have become naturalized citizens of the United States.

Danger of Visiting Prussia.—The Indianapolis (Ind.) Journal says that Mr. Frederick Buich, of that city, a well known and prosperous produce dealer, who went to Europe some six or eight weeks since on a visit to his old home and friends, immediately on his arrival in Prussia was claimed as a conscript, forced into the army, and is now held there to serve out his three years as a Prussian soldier.

Army in Utah.—Mr. Greeley, in a letter from Leavenworth, says: "I saw a great male train start out from the fort to-day, and another will start soon, filled with 160 soldiers' wives and babies, on their way to join their husbands in Utah, from whom they have been separated nearly two years. I argue from this fact that Uncle Sam expects to have use for his army in Utah for some time yet."

Three Thousand Sheep Destroyed by a Locomotive.—A destructive accident occurred in New Jersey on Tuesday last. As the down train of the New York and Erie line was crossing Well Creek, a drower with 3,000 sheep was crossing at the same time. The sheep hearing the train coming, attempted to run across the track, when it ran over them and was thrown from the track into the creek. The drower saved his life by leaping on a boat that was passing. There were no passengers on the train. The engineer has a broken arm, but was doing well at last accounts. The lot of sheep were valued at $5,000.

Frost in June.
CLEVELAND, O., June 6.—There was a heavy frost in this region on Saturday night, and the wheat crop in Northern Ohio is badly injured or destroyed. Corn, grapes and potatoes have been frozen in some localities.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 6.—The frost of Saturday night and Sunday morning has greatly damaged the wheat, corn and potatoes, also some of the fruits in this region.

Cincinnati, O., June 6.—The frost of Sunday morning extended over this State and the larger part of Indiana, and did great damage to the corn and potato crop.

Danville, N. Y., June 6.—There was a heavy frost in this vicinity on Saturday night, killing all the garden vegetables, corn and potatoes. It is also feared that fruit of all kinds has been cut off.

Buffalo, June 6.—The severe frost of Saturday in this vicinity destroyed the fruit and potatoes, and, it is feared, done much damage to the other crops.

Frost and Ice.
There was a heavy white frost in some of the towns near Boston, on Monday morning. Ice formed as thick as windows in West Roxbury, Mass. The Pittsburg papers report great damage to that vicinity by a heavy frost on Sunday night. The Dispatch says: Fruit is very seriously damaged, if reports be true. A gentleman extensively engaged in growing grapes estimates his loss at $3,000. Another, residing near East Liberty, an extensive fruit grower, says that his apples and peaches are mainly if not completely ruined. The apples were frozen at the stems, and dropped off by thousands when touched by the sun. On the south side of the river a gentleman describes the country as having the appearance of a land scorched by fire. From Westmoreland county we have the same distressing intelligence—a gentleman writing that all his garden and orchard fruits are ruined. Apprehensions are felt for the safety of the growing wheat. If in blossom, it must have been killed. But, we think, comparatively little of it will be found as seriously injured. A dispatch was received in the city stating that at Massillon, Ohio, the wheat was cut off in that region. We hear complaints of the injury done to some fields along the Ohio, and in Washington county. The effects of these reports were immediately visible in the city on Monday. Flour advanced 25 cents on the barrel.

The Weather and the Frosts.
We continue to receive accounts of the late "cold snap" and damage done by the frost. The Wheeling Intelligencer says:
"We have heard it said that on Saturday night the thermometer was four degrees below the freezing point, and that ice formed in the gutters. The frost on Sunday morning was a very heavy one, and whole handfuls could have been scraped up from the roofs and fences anywhere in the vicinity. There is no telling as yet the real extent of the damage, but those most interested fear that it is immense."
In the vicinity of Piedmont, Va., as we learn from the Independent, corn and potatoes were out down to the ground, so that the atmosphere was thickened with the odor of the decaying matter. On the mountains the frost was so severe that the young apple and peach trees are killed, and in the Glades the wheat and rye crops are nearly destroyed.

Damaging Floods in Minnesota.
CHICAGO, June 6.
From St. Paul papers of Saturday and Sunday we learn that that city and other towns above and below suffered seriously by flood in the Upper Mississippi. Much damage was done to property on the warehouse levee, St. Paul. Brooklyn, opposite, was entirely submerged and the inhabitants compelled to abandon their dwellings on account of the general inundation. At St. Anthony the damage to property was immense. Several hundred thousand feet of logs belonging to saw mills along the river were swept away, and the mills greatly damaged. The upper bridge, which cost twenty thousand dollars, was swept away. The lower bridge, which was built at a cost of sixty thousand dollars, was greatly damaged. Reports from various quarters along the Upper Mississippi state that nearly all the bridges across the streams are gone. The river is higher than it has been for a number of years.

Serious Railroad Accident.—On Monday evening when the train from Baltimore was passing through New Cumberland, a young girl, daughter of Mr. Samuel Pray, while driving some geese off the track, was struck by the cow-catcher of the engine, and so severely injured that she died in a short time. The affair caused considerable excitement in that vicinity, and detained the train for some time.

A Little Girl Killed by her Schoolmate.—While two little schoolgirls in Allegheny city, named Elizabeth Basler and Jeany Elkin, aged respectively about eight years, were engaged at play a few days ago, they quarreled, and Jenny, becoming excited, seized the other, pushed her against the wall, and, according to the statement of one of their playmates, struck her with something on the head, from the effects of which she died.

The Democrats of Lowndes county, Mississippi, have resolved to break up the Union in case of the election of a Republican President in 1860, of which they seem to have a strong apprehension. This resolution, however, is not necessary, as the Democrats in one of the back counties of Alabama, more than a week ago, had decreed the dissolution of the Union.

Polygamy in Utah.—As to the practice of polygamy itself, statistics show that it is indulged in by but a small portion of the population of the Territory. There are but three hundred and eighty-seven men with seven or more wives, seven hundred and thirty men with five wives, eleven hundred men with four wives, and fourteen hundred men with more than one wife, making a total of 3718 men thus supplied out of a population of over 40,000—Still, the number, considering the population, may be regarded as large.

The Virginia Election.—The Opposition in Virginia have gained five State Senators and eighteen Representatives. There are several counties yet to be heard from.

Modern Inventions.
We know of no invention of modern times that deserves or is destined to occupy a higher rank in the temple of fame than the discovery or invention of the Vegetable Balmic Cordial for curing Palsy, or Paresis; Epilepsy, Convulsions, and all the various modifications of Nervous Disease. Dr. F. H. H. of 108 Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md., the inventor, is entitled to the best of the most benevolent portion of mankind, who experience a pleasure in the alleviation of human suffering. When Dr. H. first prepared these Pills, he intended them solely for Palsy, Convulsions, and Epilepsy, but subsequent experience has led him to find, that in addition to their remarkable curative properties in this class of diseases, they exerted a potent control over the entire nervous system. He was then induced to try them in cases of Neuralgia, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Paralysis, Hysteria, Muscular Debility, and a host of other diseases, springing from a lack of nervous energy, in all of which his preparations were crowned with the most genuine success. Persons afflicted with any of the above named diseases, by writing and sending a remittance to Dr. H., can have the medicine forwarded by mail to their post office address, he paying the postage. The price for a single box, $2, two boxes, $3, or $4 per dozen. We have given his address above.
